

About the Resource Person:

Ms Gulan Kripalani is a trained practitioner-coach who designs and facilitates Transformational Leadership Development Programmes to address a wide spectrum of social and development issues.

She has been a consultant to the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and worked in several countries in Africa, Asia, Pacific Islands and the Arab States using this value-based 'inside out' leadership development process that focuses on personal transformation leading to social transformation. The methodology is designed to generate breakthrough initiatives and shift systems for sustainable results.

She has worked with NGOs, corporate CSR teams, educational institutions, environmentalists, designers, communities, activist groups etc. to address environmental issues, HIV and AIDs, child rights, gender- based violence, leadership of women etc.